SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1941

160 Acres Of Watershed
Is AcquiredCity Seeks To Halt Development That Would Cause Stream Pollution

Following through with the policy of protecting Sierra Madre's watershed by acquiring undeveloped mountain land in the Little Santa Anita Canyon, the city council Tuesday evening voted to buy the North East quarter of Section 8, township 1 north, range 11 west, San Bernardino meridian, from Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Miller of Glendale, for $800. This includes 160 acres in which there are 600 feet of stream bed.

In buying the property the city acquires all right, title and interest to any and all water rights pertaining to the quarter section, which is free of all incumbrance except county taxes for the fiscal year 1941-42, but subject to the Mt. Wilson trail easement.

Greatest factor influencing decision of the council, was the need for preventing stream pollution by curtailing development of the property directly back of Sierra Madre.

Sierra Madre Dogs Capture Prizes At Santa Barbara

Sierradale Chica, two-year old airdale terrier owned and trained by Miss Mae Pridham, captured the best of the breed award at the Santa Barbara Kennel Show, July 20, adding another honor to her already enviable record.

Huana Major, brother of Chica, who is owned by Miss Elizabeth Pridham, was given the best opposite sex award.

Womens Place In Defense Program To Be Told At The Vine

Keying her topic to a problem of predominant current interest, Miss Margaret Schwartzman, member of the Pasadena League of Women Voters, will speak on "The Battle for Production" at the Sunday evening supper salon at Wistaria Vine Gardens this week.

Miss Schwartzman will give the recently expressed formula of the league which is sponsoring a program of "more getting together, more sacrifice, more taxes, more work for the more rapid production of planes, tanks, guns and goods." During the round table discussion which will follow, Miss Schwartzman will be assisted by Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, former member of the League.

Dinner will begin at 6:15. Those unable to arrive at that time may hear the program an hour later.

Forest Service Has Abandoned Plans
For Bailey Canyon

Although the proposal to place a six-man fire fighting crew in Bailey Canyon has been abandoned, Santa Anita District Ranger Pat Harlan has announced an even greater fire hazard reduction for this area. According to Harlan the U.S. Forest Service has agreed to station a nine man crew, a three man tanker crew and one prevention guard at the U.S. Forest Service warehouse barracks at Arcadia.

This entire force will be available for fire prevention and protection in the area which extends from Monrovia to Eaton Canyon.

To Welcome Pastor
Home At Picnic

As a welcome home gesture to the Rev. Frederic Grootsema who has returned from a month's stay in Colorado, the Congregational Church has arranged a family picnic dinner for next Tuesday evening, July 29, at the city park.

All members and friends are asked to attend. Coffee and ice cream will be served. Those planning to be present should bring a hot dish, salad or cake as well as their own supper service. Mrs. Percy Kortkamp is in charge of the entertainment which will probably include a program and games.

Want Women To Sew
For War Victims

Mrs. Harold Stitt, chairman of the women's group sewing for children in the war zones, has announced that all Sierra Madre women may join the group which meets each Friday at the park house. This week use of a sewing machine was donated, and several townswomen have contributed handbags which will be equipped with toilet articles. This work may also be done by women having bags no longer in use, according to Mrs. Stitt, who asks that they contain soap, tooth paste or powder, wash cloth, comb, tooth brush, and other small toilet articles.

New Registrants
May Not Get Serial
Numbers For Week

According to Draft Board 191 at Monrovia, photographic copies of the master list of numbers drawn in the nation's second great selective service lottery last Thursday will not be received here until next week. Therefore men who registered July 1 will not know their final draft number until the end of the month.

Upon arrival of the official list from Washington, the local board will meet and integrate serial numbers of 118 registrants into the draft list. This will be done by inserting numbers called in sequence at intervals of 12 beginning with 746 which is the last number called from this board. No official numbers can be released until three separate verifications of the list have been made.

Start Work
On Fine New Homes HereTwelve Room Redwood Dwelling To Replace That Of City's Founder

A 12-room home to be constructed almost entirely of California redwood at a cost in excess of $14,000, is now being built by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Willis on the hilltop formerly occupied by the old N. C. Carter home at the head of Baldwin avenue.

Actual construction of the home has been delayed several weeks while Mr. Willis and the architects were studying air currents and sunlight in order to take advantage of the best summer and winter weather conditions.

The first floor will include formal living rooms, an outdoor living room and fire place and sleeping units for the two sons of the family who are now away at school. Second floor plans are sufficiently complete to meet all requirements for a family of three and will also include a detached study for Mr. Willis.

Other homes were begun here this week for Mr. and Mrs. William Clement of 440 Ramona who are building a five room farmhouse type dwelling on East Montecito avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Maxwell whose five room log veneer home will rise on Canyon avenue near the intersection of Alegria avenue.

New Zone Variance Approved To Allow
Building Of Homes

On recommendation of the city planning commission a zone variance has been granted to City Street Superintendent Marion L. Hay, permitting him to construct two houses on property which he owns on the southeast corner of Hermosa and Grand View avenues which is in a single residence zone.

Only protests received by the commission were from Miss Bates representing Lewis A. Brown, Miss Minnie Nelson and Mrs. Elizabeth Rhodes. Decision of the commission was influenced largely by the fact that the property is unsuitable for landscaping because it is traversed by the Bailey Canyon storm drain.

Pupils At Summer
School Show Work;
Get Their Diplomas

More than a hundred pupils who have completed the four-week summer Bible school course at Bethany Church will receive diplomas at closing exercises which will be conducted tomorrow.

At 10 a.m. the pre-school, kindergarten, first and second grades will give their program of special music and a demonstration of the type of work they have completed, in the church auditorium.

Other students including the third grade and all of the advanced classes will present their program in the auditorium at 7:30 followed by an exhibit of work and teaching methods in the basement of the annex. A cordial invitation to parents and friends has been extended by the Rev. S. R. Sheriff, pastor.

Virtues And Faults
Of Union Now To Be Discussed Tuesday

A discussion of the pro and con views of Union Now, as published in the July issue of the Reader's Digest, promises an interesting evening for the August meeting of the Sierra Madre Chapter for Federal Union, which will be held at the Park House, Tuesday evening, August 5.

According to Dr. Hoyt Rodney Gale, the discussion will be followed by the formal answering of questions for which there was not time at the last meeting. The meeting is open to the public.

"THE FLYING DUTCHMAN"

EVEN WITHOUT FINES IT COSTS
MUCH MORE WHEN YOU DRIVE
FAST POLICE CHIEF WARNS

Extravagant waste of gasoline and oil at high motor speeds was pointed out yesterday by Police Chief Gordon McMillan in urging strict compliance with traffic laws which are being enforced by all police officers as part of a continuous county-wide program.

While excessive speed is receiving much attention, violations of other sections of the motor vehicle code regarding signalling, stopping at intersections, driving on the wrong side of the street and failure to yield the right of way to pedestrians are also receiving attention of the officers.

"Driving cars at high speeds is a most needless waste of money," said Chief McMillan. Many tests prove that cars of less than the $1000 class may easily get 20 miles on a gallon of gasoline at 20 miles an hour. But when this speed goes up to 45 miles an hour the gasoline mileage drops to 16.5 miles per gallon. Heavier cars will get somewhere around 12 miles a gallon but this will drop to 9.9 miles a gallon at 45 miles an hour. Surveys by automotive engineers prove this.

McMillan points out that at 60 miles an hour a light car will drop at least five miles per gallon below its best mileage and more often runs nine miles per gallon below.

Impatient drivers who attempt to pass all travel on the road pay an additional excessive gasoline "use tax," as rapid pickup calls for the use of as much fuel as the excessively high speeds.

"If motorists do not care about being stopped by traffic officers," states Chief McMillan, "then the terrific drain upon their purses certainly ought to make them slow down and think."

Traffic fines on citations issued within city limits during the last few days have aggregated $39. Ten dollar fines for speeding were paid by Lee A. Kennan, Walter McDonald and Wayne Cass, while Merle Cass and Theodore Wagner netted $200 fines for failing to make boulevard stops. Lawrence Pierson drew a similar fine for driving without lights.

Plea Made For Boys In
Army CampsCitizen Soldiers Need To Know People Are Behind
Them To Keep Up Morale

Declaring that "you can't stop a man in uniform from thinking," Joseph Scott, prominent Southern California attorney and member of the United Service Organizations Board for Southern California, appeared here Monday evening in support of National Unity Week and the U.S.O. drive. "The morale of the Army is an important thing," said Mr. Scott, "and just now our boys in camp need to know that the people are behind them."

He spoke at length about problems which have arisen in all parts of the nation where Army camps with a population of around 50,000 selectees have moved in on towns of 2500 or less inhabitants. "Giving these boys decent recreation quarters with home-like atmosphere will largely overcome their resentment against their 'accident of youth,'" stated Mr. Scott, "and will reconcile them to their present position."

Breaking down of the lines of demarcation between race, religion and creed, he also foresaw through the ultimate success of the USO, creation of a better America, "and a sweeter place in which to live."

Mr. Scott was introduced by R. C. Lewis, who also spoke briefly preceding Pat West, who gave an interesting picture of recreation problems in the army during World War No. 1. Light entertainment note of the evening was struck by Danny Beck, motion picture comedian.

Proceeds from the dinner were slightly under $100, swelling the fund to $350.97.

Voluntary subscribers to the fund during the week were Gabriel Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hall, Southern Counties Gas Co., California Water and Telephone, Marjorie Winn, Wm. Gellaly, Rowland Leffingwell, Paul Carter, Tom Schwartz, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Krebs, Mark Welsher and the Kiwanis Club.

Jr. Chamber
Of Commerce
Organized

Formation of Sierra Madre's first Junior Chamber of Commerce under the sponsorship of the Senior Chamber was announced this week by Leo Cullum. Official backing of this group will be voted tonight at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Indication is given that the local Kiwanis Club will act as co-sponsor.

Membership will be open to young people between the ages of 17 and 25 years. Directors will be named at a meeting scheduled for Monday evening, July 28.

Community-minded young Sierra Madreans who have already joined the group now laying plans for a series of town events under direction of Warren Jones, president pro tem, are Elizabeth Jackson, Barbara Barker, Paul Miller, Howard Miller, George Grihalva, Harold Brett, Lawrence Murphy and Marvin Thomas.

Sierra Madrean On Broadway On Visit
In The Hometown

Recent closing of the Broadway hit, "Out of the Frying Pan," permitted Selwyn Myers to make his annual summer trip from New York to Sierra Madre to visit his mother and sister, Mrs. Al S. Myers and Elberta Myers. During the season Myers has appeared in several radio productions and also had a leading role in the "White Haired Boy" in Boston. He will remain here for the summer, probably returning to New York early in September.

Brother And Sister
Meet Here First
Time In 36 Years

A visit from a brother whom she had not seen for 36 years was recently enjoyed by Mrs. W. A. Gerry when she had as her houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tonkin, of Chicago, who were here for a few days while on a tour of the western states.

Mr. Tonkin is a conductor on the Santa Fe's El Capitan out of Chicago. Mrs. Tonkin operates a woman's shop at Oak Park. This was their first vacation together in 34 years.

Officer Rescues
Three Girls Lost
On Mountain Trail

While the Mt. Wilson Trail may seem like a hikers paradise to some people, to Jim Heasley the city's heroic cop, it is just the place where legs get tired, and you open the neck of your wool shirt and struggle on.

Out-of-town hikers always seem to get lost when Heasley is on duty, so again on Sunday night he was called out to rescue a party of girls lost on the steep slopes of the west bank of the Little Santa Anita Canyon above the dam.

From the new Forest Service road Heasley located the party with the police car spot light, and accompanied by a Canyon Park resident, followed the trail to a point from where he could lower a rope to them.

Those who eventually reached the trail and later notified worried relatives from the police station were Dorothy Dykman of Santa Monica, Ruth and Sylvia Littell of El Monte, and Edith Littell of Los Angeles.

Costs Money
To Let Weeds
Go Too LongProperty Owners Heedless
Of Fire Hazard Will Get
Answer In Tax Bills

Weed cleaning in Sierra Madre this year will cost taxpayers whose property had to be cleared by city crews $875.54, according to Marion L. Hays, street superintendent, who posted his official report at the city hall this week. This amount will be divided among the individual property owners effected and added to their tax bills. It is estimated the cost would have been half as much if owners had moved to cut down the fire hazard on their own account.

Also submitted to the city council Tuesday evening were the specifications for a water level indicating and recording system for the Mira Monte reservoir to register at the East Sierra Madre boulevard pumping plant, and for the Auburn avenue reservoir to register at the Mira Monte plant also. These were drawn up by William Schwartz and accepted by the council who advised the city clerk to advertise for bids, which will be opened at 8:30 p.m., August 26.

On the motion of Councilman Paul Carter, W. R. Wright, city auditor, was instructed to circulate delinquent water accounts as of July 1.

Because of the acute parking problem adjacent to the Canyon Swimming pool, the council voted to contact Dr. L. L. Krebs with the view of leasing four lots for parking purposes during four months of the year.

Voting on the problem of hiring a substitute vacation worker for Mrs. Frances Davis, executive secretary of the Red Cross, the council agreed to pay the cost of such an employee for one week providing the Red Cross will pay her salary during the second week.

No complaints having been received from townspeople regarding Sunday afternoon recorded concerts in the city park, the council granted Richard I. Welles permission to give regular weekly concerts until otherwise notified.

High Fog Bringing Temperature Down

Slightly cooler weather is promised this area as early morning fogs and high scattered clouds during the afternoon brought the mercury down several points yesterday. This was the first break in well over 90 degree temperatures for the last seven days. Temperatures for the week were:

	Max.	Min.

July 19	94	60
July 20	94	58

BEST IN YEARS

Mid-year reports of 200 leading department stores in California and other Pacific Coast States tell a cheerful story of busy cash registers and booming sales.

"On the basis of the first half of the current year," notes the Pacific Coast Edition of the Wall Street Journal, "stores are heading for their best year in history from a sales standpoint."

After a decade of depression, with dwindling sales and staggering deficits, California merchants can use a bit of good news—and the cash that comes with it. And the folks who are buying now, and contributing to the spurt in business, are entitled to a spending spree, too. After long years of going without, a few of the little luxuries of life are doubly appreciated.

This editor, in common with most editors, is very tired of reporting bad news—and its a pleasure, indeed, to write about "best years in history." We hope there'll be many more of 'em.

Wife Visits
Sierra MadreLady Halifax Tells Of Huge Responsibility Of
This Nation In Crisis

A small grey haired woman whose heart is with Britain met the most noted British woman in America here yesterday and in a few words conveyed the simple friendliness which motivates English women throughout the world. Standing before an engraving of Queen Victoria, Mrs. Jennie Wallace, resident at the British Old People's Home, presented a small bouquet of yellow tipped marguerites and lavender scabiosa to Lady Halifax, wife of the British Ambassador to the United States, who had scheduled her day to include a visit to the home supported by the Daughters of the British Empire.

There was little talk of the war, just an exchange of greetings, talk of gardens, and daily life at the home. Later, however, Lady Halifax spoke of the huge responsibility which rests with President Roosevelt and the human elements which must influence any decision which this country makes in the world crisis.

She wore a simple navy blue figured ensemble, with white accessories and carried a small sheaf of rosemary and lavender "for remembrance," the gift of Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, another resident of the Home.

Accompanying Lady Halifax were C. C. Butler, Canadian Commissioner, and Mrs. Butler. Receiving were Mrs. Raymond Stevens, state president of the D.B.E., Miss Charlotte Magee, Mrs. Frederick Seddings, president of the Home; Mrs. A. E. Pulling, president of the John Ruskin Chapter of the D.B.E., and Miss Lalla Fagge.

Parking May Be Limited
To 2 HoursIncreased Business In Shopping Area Prompts
City Council To Act

In the interest of better downtown traffic conditions, Sierra Madre may soon have a boulevard stop sign at the corner of Kersting Court and Baldwin avenue, and a two-hour downtown parking limit.

On the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce, the city council referred the proposed additional downtown boulevard stop to Police Chief McMillan for investigation and report at its next meeting, and also requested the chief to make a recommendation for a two-hour parking ordinance, believed necessary on account of increased business activity in the shopping area.

Enactment of such an ordinance would do away with present all day parking on downtown streets by residents who commute by street car to neighboring cities.

How To Get Summer
Color In Gardens
Told By Expert

Guests at Wistaria Vine Gardens last Sunday evening learned that summer gardens may be brilliantly decked through even the warmest months with flowering bulbs. J. A. Giridlian, bulb expert of Arcadia, showed 50 colored slides, to support his theory. Many of the bulbs discussed may now be seen flowering at the Wistaria Vine.

Personal Property Values
Also Increase In General
Business Uptrend

An increase of $33,700 in the total assessed valuation of Sierra Madre this year was evidenced this week by assessment figures released from the office of John R. Quinn, county assessor.

Net total as shown on the assessment roll before equalization by the county board of equalization, places Sierra Madre's assessed value at $2,588,405, as against $2,554,705 for 1940. This does not include the assessments on public utilities which are made by the State Board of Equalization and sent directly to the county auditor in August.

Land values in Sierra Madre have dropped from $1,293,270 to $1,222,340, but are offset by improvements due to new home buildings from $1,238,460 to $1,299,510. Personal property and exemptions are both ahead of last year being respectively, $238,225 and $171,670 as against $190,930 and $167,955.

Assessment of neighboring towns has also increased, that of Monrovia being $6,561,325 this year, totaling $204,954 over last year.

High Goal Set
In Aluminum
Drive HereNew Junior Chamber Of Commerce Seeks Nation's Per Capita Record

Seeking to set a national per capita record by collecting a pound of aluminum per person in Sierra Madre, the Junior Chamber of Commerce this week launched the local aluminum campaign, and began trips to every corner of the town, gathering all available utensils.

Working with the cooperation of the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and many local merchants, the Junior Chamber has collected 371 pounds during the first two days of this week. "Aluminum for defense of America" is their slogan, and Sierra Madre's place at the top of contributing towns, their aim.

Headquarters have been opened on West Sierra Madre Blvd., next to Skeels Sierra Madre Drug store. Utensils may be left there or will be picked up by campaign workers, if donors will dial the Red Cross and leave their address.

Merchants who are making the collection possible by supplying transportation funds are Welch's Feed and Fuel, Sierra Newstand, Happy's Liquor store, Jim Irving's Grill, Wistaria Bakery, Byron Hopper, jeweler; Sierra Madre Hardware, Jim Heasley, Jr., and the Wistaria Theatre which is giving screen time as well as a sound truck and screen trailer.

Minister Reared
Here To Preach His
First Home Sermon

Preaching locally for the first time since his ordination as a Baptist minister at the Eastern Baptist Seminary at Philadelphia in August, Rev. Merrill A. Jensen will give the sermon at Bethany Church Sunday morning.

Mr. Jensen is the son of Richard S. Jensen of 561 West Grand View avenue. He attended Sierra Madre Grammar school and graduated from Pasadena Junior College and the University of Redlands before entering the Eastern Baptist Seminary. He is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Beverly, New Jersey.

Mr. Jensen arrived Friday from the east and will vacation in Southern California until August 11th.

Young Sierra Madre Girl Wins Trophy In Search For Talent

Junior division sweepstakes trophy for the annual Pasadena Search for Talent was awarded to Marileen Scoville, 11-year old Sierra Madre marimba artist, last night at a dinner given by the Pasadena Athletic Club.

Marileen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Scoville of 272 West Grand View avenue, was one of 27 finalists chosen to appear at the Civic Auditorium last Wednesday. She has played throughout Los Angeles county during the last year, and is rapidly making a name for herself among young Southern California musicians.

Last week she made radio and club appearances in both Pasadena and Los Angeles. For the talent search which was sponsored by the Pasadena Department of Recreation, she played "Kiss Me Again," and the Second Hungarian Rhapsody.

Broadway Singing Star Coming To Church Here Sunday

Bringing an exceptional summer music event to Sierra Madre, the Congregational Church will present Robert Davis as soloist at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

For a year and a half Mr. Davis has been featured as the singing star in the Broadway musical production "Meet The People." He began his career as soloist at the Congregational Church at Upland, and rose rapidly to a position of prominence in both radio and musical productions. Mr. Davis is now vacationing at his home in Claremont, and comes to the Congregational Church through a long-standing friendship with the Rev. Mr. Grootsema.

and Mrs. Carlin G. Smith, Mrs. Amanda Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fox, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Og, all of whom, accompanied by their families, enjoyed a picnic in Santa Anita Park, Monday night.

Mrs. Marjorie Black of 737 West Alegria avenue, entertained a group of friends at luncheon Wednesday that included Mrs. Elna Baunke, Marian Thayer, Eleanor Guintini, Charlotte Bush, Virginia Kindel of Arcadia, and Cynthia Baugh of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Parker of 31 East Highland, were guests at a weiner bake given last Wednesday night at Redondo Beach.

The R. H. Pickett family of 201 West Highland avenue were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Kincaid of Huntington Park.

Open house at the A. G. Eilers, 695 West Sierra Madre blvd., from 2 to 5 Sunday afternoon, was greatly enjoyed by the many friends who dropped in to see Mr. and Mrs. Eilers. The latter returned recently from a business trip to North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Layton of 291 East Sierra Madre blvd., had as their luncheon guests last Thursday, Mrs. Elmer Turner and daughter Joyce, Mrs. Emma Haun and Mrs. J. T. Rallsback, all of Alhambra.

Jean McCullagh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McCullagh of 154 East Montecito avenue, attended a luncheon Saturday at the home of Mrs. Wallace Toelle in Southgate, and from there went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Murphy of Hermosa, for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Coumbe, 521 Alta Vista drive, were host and hostess to a party of friends at a dinner dance last Thursday night in the Beverly Hills Hotel. Badminton, dancing and games were enjoyed by the 60 Sigma Chi's and their wives, all members of the Foothill group, who were entertained Sunday at a picnic at Topside, home of the M. T. Gardiners.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Durham, 684 Auburn avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. Reno Robinson and daughter Geraldine of Glendale, and Mrs. Leland Anderson and daughter Carol Lee of San Luis Obispo.

Edward Burton DeGroot Jr., of Riverside, was a dinner guest Saturday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. DeGroot of East Orange Grove avenue. He stopped enroute to Palo Alto where he will attend a conference of airway directors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Billheimer of 70 Auburn avenue had as their guests Thursday night, Mrs. Elizabeth Zumstein and daughters, Hazel and Beth, of Detroit, Mich.

As It Appears To me

So many things we would like to know this week... Most of all we wish some superior mind would straighten us out on this matter of chairman and chairwoman. Recently we sat through a long luncheon program at the Hollywood Bowl and were somewhat disturbed by the presiding chairman who used both the masculine and feminine when introducing various women speakers. There we sat wondering whether the next speaker would be a chairman or chairwoman, inwardly deploring the inconsistency of the whole thing. For our part we are perfectly willing to shatter precedent and subscribe to the use of chairwoman from now on.

Another something we want to know is the origination of that great but abhorrent American custom of saying "Yes I will" while meaning "No I won't." Perhaps Bob Wright or Rev. Mr. Grootsema could give us the most authentic information. A good three weeks ago City Planner Wright promised us a story about the changing of street names... We are still waiting. Then Mr. Grootsema returns from a month in Colorado, promises to jot down a few highlights for us and on publication day sticks his head in the door and carols, "Oh, I forgot all about it." The worst part of it is that such examples are demoralizing us... we even find ourselves promising to do something for which we can't find time—and then feel miserable for the next month because we have let someone down.

This brings us to the point of making inquiries about methods of budgeting time... not that we are so efficient about budgeting anything... but we can understand the technique of labeling small envelopes with all the forseen months obligations and then depositing weekly. What we don't understand is the method of treating unforseen obligations... and so it is with time. Perhaps this has something to do with self-discipline—we wouldn't know, but we feel that we should do something about it.

National Unity Week opened Sunday, and Monday morning we were expecting to see our village dignified with the national colors floating everywhere as requested in the proclamation by our President, the governor of our state, and the mayor of our city. As we looked out across Kersting court there were two flags in sight, and we are wondering if Sierra Madre is suffering from a super-isolation complex. During the last five years we have seen many town events—some have been successful, many have simply fizzled out because of a "this doesn't concern me" attitude on the part of the townspeople. Perhaps this is all right... people do have to retreat sometime... but it seems to require such a small effort to display a flag.

We hear that the Arts Guild concert orchestra is rehearsing each Sunday evening through the summer months—working now on Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony. Jascha Gagna, a person of almost unbelievable endurance, still finds time to play at the Bowl, attend rehearsals, and at the same time continue to develop young musicians. How very fine it must be to know that such achievements are really yours. We are saluting Mr. Gagna.

Wonder if it would disrupt the entire administration of the City of Our Lady, if the thousands who really listen to music should demand an ordinance making it a FELONY for air pilots to cruise over the Bowl during concerts? Ordinary intelligence should tell any pilot that there is a time and place for planes, which definitely does not include the Hollywood Bowl between 8 and 11 p.m.

We had just about come to the conclusion that the downtown flagpole episode was closed for all time when we received a note from Dr. J. M. Donelan of Glenwood, Iowa, that he would begin the contributions. Now what to do—return Dr. Donelan's gift or continue to goad resident Sierra Madreans into contributing the remaining amount? Seems interesting that a resident of Glenwood is more civic spirited than the rest of us.—Margaret Eliason.

What They Say ---

Police Capt. Albert Munn, S.F.—"Highway accidents mount as national defense activity increases. Greater congestion and more drinking are the two chief causes."

Dave Dubinsky, head of Inter. Ladies' Garment Workers—"We have had no general strike in 12 years. We've outgrown our incubating pains. We've learned that employers have to get something to give something."

Mrs. Mary Carter Sturges, San Diego, returning after four years in Italy—"Italian people still are not in favor of the war; most pray for an English victory and virtually all are having a very hard time to live."

Doug. Fairbanks, Jr., after South American tour—"The vanguard of Hitler's army is right now preparing the ground for a Nazi putsch below the Rio Grande. The effects of German propaganda are to be found everywhere, in certain sections of the press, radio, business and social groups."

Arcadia Ball Team Defeated 12 To 2 By Kiwanis All-Stars

Sierra Madre's Kiwanis All-Star baseball team defeated the Pines Coffee Shop nine of Arcadia, Friday evening at the grammar school grounds by a score of 12 to 2.

S. Davis pitched an excellent game for the Arcadians, but the Sierra Madre boys were in fine hitting form. Kiggins, pitching for Sierra Madre, only allowed five hits. Sierra Madre registered 18 hits and only 1 error. The Arcadians had five hits and two errors.

Volunteers

Oh, give me the thrill of long ago
When the cry, "Remember the Maine!"
United us firmly against the foe,
And ended the glory of Spain.

The old and the young, the fat and the thin,
Each tried to be first to enlist,
But Uncle Sam could not take us all in,
Until the last sweetheart was kissed.

A mother, I knew, who gave her two boys
To fight and to conquer the foe,
Said, mingling her tears with her smiles and her joys,
"Thank God they were willing to go."

The dear old flag in the same old way—
And as long as the world shall be—
Unfurled its folds as it does today
O'er the land of the brave and the free.

—W. L. Stanton,

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

Andy Liscomb, Shorty Steinberger's assistant at the service station, is back from that longed for trip to see the wonders of Carlsbad Caverns. Another fireman to enter the vacation period is Fred Lewis. All alone with but his fish lines and hooks, Fred left for the south coast. He expects to tie up along the beach somewhere between Oceanside and Mexico with only his dog "Mike" as a companion.
The offensive odor that permeated the air in the downtown district one evening last week was found to be the front seat cushions or an auto parked in the rear of the city hall. It was soon extinguished when discovered by the men on duty at the station, with the aid of one of the recently installed pressure tanks. The loss was not great.
Now is the time when we must all be very, very careful. Boy, but ain't things dry and ready to burn. Have your incinerators repaired and in the proper place and condition. Help keep the fires out.

There is but one law for all, namely, that law which governs all law, the law of our Creator, the law of humanity, justice, equity—the law of nature and of nations.—Edmund Burke.

Buying America

When Americans make up their minds to do a job, you can count on their accomplishing a bang-up piece of work.

In the few short weeks since the government put its first defense savings bonds and stamps on sale in post offices and banks throughout the country, the public has dug down in its purse to purchase six and one-half million dollars worth of stamps and more than 707 million dollars worth of bonds.

If you wanted an example of united action, dedicated to unselfish aid on behalf of national security, the savings bond program has provided it. Newspapers and banks, without profit to themselves, have given space, time and facilities to make that program a tip-top success.

It's in the books, in the record of steadily mounting sales of bonds and stamps, that Americans like to invest in America.

Line Hasn't Moved

Where is it—this Stalin Line—now that the "mutual assistance pact" has been signed between Russia and Britain?

Does it still lie along the Soviet west frontier, 75 miles deep, from the Black Sea to the Gulf of Finland? Or is it nearer America—much nearer?

The Communist Party in this country thinks the Line has been shifted, by a stroke of their Red leader's pen, to coincide with our own borders, and brazenly says so.

"The sentiment of the American people," the Communist Daily Worker announces, "requires full aid and support for the Soviet Union! It requires lease-lend provisions for such aid; lifting of all restrictions and obstacles to the U.S.-Soviet trade; freeing of machine shipments and Soviet credits. The American people desire unequivocal support to the Soviet Union!"

Communists may feel quit sure of that. But nobody else does. Lethargic enough in protecting America's institutions and liberties from Communist assault, the people of this country are possibly not quite so fast asleep as they sometimes seem. They are certainly not sunk to a state where the Communist mouthpiece may speak for them.

Aid to Britain, in the opinion of the majority of Americans, is an honorable obligation; how Britain uses that aid to assist herself in her sorely beset position is her affair. But our action in aiding Britain is no welcoming gesture to Communism and the Reds well know it.

Their interpretation of the situation is their own—not America's. And their attempt to call the plays for Americans is just another example of the malicious lengths to which they will go to attain their end—the final destruction of democracy and all it means to this country. Their vandalism and their perfidy is equalled only by the Nazis and this country wants none of either.

As far as Americans are concerned, the Stalin Line is just where it has always been—on Russia's west frontier.

H. S. Smith, Santa Barbara—"Executing people for their crimes is a flagrant disregard of God's Tenth Commandment. And killing them to 'save the State money' is as unsound as getting rid of crippled poor, mentally unbalanced and other wards of the State."

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

THE story that reached us was so curious we felt at once we ought to pass it on. And while it may not be history, in the narrower sense, it does, we believe, throw light on what may be called—at least one of—the metaphysical phases of the War. Weird, screwy! But, when you come to think of it, so have been many things about this War. As it may have been—most likely was—with every war; for all their horrors, for all their heroisms, both transcending speech. Only, we should add right off that this present anecdote doesn't concern the actual fighting, except perhaps by indirection. Chiefly it concerns Adolf Hitler and that flight of Rudolf Hess to Scotland; and something else—something that happened—and, for all we know, may still be going on—at that private Valhalla of Hitler's in the Bavarian Alps, his Berchtesgaden.

THE whole world knows now how wonderful Berchtesgaden is—big living-room, its vast single-piece-of-plate-glass window overlooking Alpine peaks and valleys. The whole place big as a Swiss hotel—and this one done up by Barker Brothers. Yet about as hard for a stranger to get into as our own Fort Knox. A stranger, however, did, it seems, succeed in doing just that. And this stranger no master hunter, either, as in the story, "Rogue Male," recently made into a Hollywood movie. This stranger was a girl with—please get this and accept it as positively authentic—not a breath, not a trace of what Hollywood used to refer to as "it." Yet comely. A blonde. With a beauty to make any man speculate even if that beauty was a trifle wan.

HITLER confessed his overwhelming interest in this girl from the first moment that he saw her. He confessed this to Hess, the one and only intimate friend and companion he had ever known; and this was about a month before Hess flew to Scotland. Hitler told Hess: "She came from I don't know where, I don't know how. At twilight, here in the living-room, while I was watching the Alpine glow," Hess was stunned. Not even he would have intruded—or have been permitted to intrude—on der Fuehrer at such an hour. For, call him what you will, Hitler was, as Hess knew and none better, a fierce and forthright Nature-worshiper. Twice a day here at Berchtesgaden, at sunrise and again at sunset, Hitler gave himself over for an hour or so to this mystical worship in a solitude that only those old German Nature gods and heroes of Hitler's theology would have dared to interrupt. But now, this girl! "Who was she?" Hess asked.

BEFORE we go on, we should say that there was one detail about the rich and highly complicated installation of Berchtesgaden with which not even Hitler or Hess was familiar. In fact, Herr Heinrich Himmler, Chief of the Gestapo, who was responsible for this particular detail, had been careful to see that none but himself and a few trusted agents should have so much as the faintest idea of such an installation. For this was a most comprehensive system for secret listening and recording every word ever spoken in the vast establishment. So now, while the Fuehrer and the one person in the world he fully trusted talked about the mysterious and lovely visitor, Herr Himmler's listening post was in full and perfect operation.

HITLER said: "You ask me who she is. Ach! Wait, first, and let me tell thee, dear Rudolf, for even thou—even thou who art so different from—zum Beispiel—the swinish Hermann (meaning Goering)—or that mousy Goebbels—even thou couldst scarce believe." And he told how the girl had appeared before him like a vision through the big front window. And a vision he'd believed her to be until she'd put her cool hand on his forehead. Whereupon there had come to him a rush of understanding. So that he was understanding—and even speaking—what do you suppose? French!—nur French—an old and beautiful French! "And," Herr Hitler went on, with his voice now rising to that familiar hysterical falsetto, "she was telling me how she also once fought the English. But that now—no more! no more! Now, let us—hah! Frieden unter einander!"—have peace one with another.

HERR HIMMLER, of the Gestapo, so our information goes, listened in on all this. He knew all about the Fuehrer's mysticism, which verged at times on insanity, fused as it was with a strain of epilepsy. Herr Himmler had always been a student. Especially of aberrant psychology. He traced likenesses of Hitler's

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

TOOTHACHE

Of all the tortures folks endure, defying every local cure is toothache, which I can't refrain from christening, The King of Pain. Pathetic though our efforts be to overcome such misery, one's simply got to smile a bit at ways some people cope with it. When teeth begin to throb and sting, the victim will try anything; strong coffee, gin, tobacco juice, not one of them of any use. Hot water bottles by the score, applied until the face is sore; some try walking, others pray but still the darn thing seems to stay. And even though you ease the pain, it's sure to hop right back again; there's just one way to put to route an aching tooth—go have it out.

In the first four months of this year the value of new homes built in California reached $93 million, a handsome gain of 27 per cent over that same period in 1940. And it should be noted what a lion's share of all home building in the entire 12th Federal Reserve District, California, during those four months, $93 million out of a total of $115 million. New homes in California mean more thriving communities. They mean not only happier families, but more citizens with a sense of civic responsibility, more citizens with a stake in the well-being and prosperity of their home town. Real castles a-building mean a better California.

Most unusual news item of the week: A Vichy, France, general "accuses" British forces in Syria of fighting like savages. The dispirited, flightless men of Vichy have evidently forgotten the blunt, unfortunate truth so memorably put by General Sherman, "War is hell."

Politics and military necessity often make quarrelsome bedfellows. Such has been the status of the hotly fought debate over retention of selectees and National Guardsmen in the army after their one year's service is completed. Opponents, many of them concerned over next year's congressional elections, have drawn their battle line on the stand that to keep selectees and reserves in service would be to break faith with them. On the condition of the army itself there can be little debate. The facts speak for themselves. The nation today has just two divisions prepared to take the field. Of these, only one is almost completely made up of regular soldiers. Of the present armed force of 1,400,000, only one-seventh have had more than a year's training. The present goal is to fully prepare and equip 30 divisions. And that number, it is interesting to note, will still be less than the number of divisions Russia has posted today on her eastern frontiers. It will be less than one-eighth the number of divisions Germany possesses. Yet on these 30 divisions depends the defense, not of just a part of the country, but of the entire continental United States.

If John Doe is perplexed over the new taxes he faces, so are many of the fiscal experts outside government circles. With amazing impartiality the new levies hit luxury goods and necessities with equal force. The indispensable alarm clock, along with the luxury sable cloak, are all dealt the same tax. Those who can afford private yachts and private airplanes will pay a $5 use tax, but the family car—on which millions of workers must depend for daily transportation to their jobs—must also juggle up a use tax to the identical amount. It was, in fact, the already highly tax-burdened motor vehicle which congressional tax experts singled out to carry the heaviest load, while neglecting other forms of transportation. With the passenger car and truck being called upon to play an ever growing part in the defense program, they have been administered a tax barrage of the severest kind. In addition to the flat $5 use tax, the excise tax on both passenger and commercial vehicles has been doubled; the excise tax on motor vehicle parts and accessories has been doubled; so likewise has been the tax on tires and tubes. However, Congress has yet to set its seal of approval on this schedule, which means John Doe still has a chance to enter his opinion with his representative on Capitol Hill.

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

For every squad of conscientious objectors to the draft there's a whole battalion of objectors to the impending new defense taxes.

Why? What does the forthcoming tax program mean to California? How will it affect the individual?

Briefly, it will swell this State's total tax tribute from slightly less than a billion dollars a year to nearly a billion and a half.

It will raise the ante on every man, woman and child, from 138 tax dollars a year to 200.

With all their grumbling, few run-of-the-mill taxpayers have the slightest conception of what that will mean. For the tremendous, almost annihilative cost of war is as incomprehensible to the average man as war itself—until the lightning strikes.

Since the new defense tax is bound to be only a first cost of any possible conflict to come—a mere wavelet in the surging, crushing sea of costs that must accompany a modern war—it is just as well to find out about such things early and learn how to face them if necessary. Possibly with this in mind the Tax Digest has posed its current question of the month: "How can ordinary, non-defense expenditures of government be reduced to cushion the burden of additional federal tax demands?"

Here is one answer to that important query, supplied by R. W. Jessup, Los Angeles county supervisor: "Genuine economy extending to all spending; general retrenchment all along the line; elimination of all unnecessary services and employees; sound public budgeting; careful scrutiny of all day-by-day spending; a centralized business management of public affairs."

Offering a bit more drastic remedy, C. L. Preisker, Santa Barbara county supervisor, answers, too:

"The desire of public officials to spend and give away other people's money is a disease which cannot be cured by a local application of persuasion," Mr. Preisker believes. He proposes:

To draft politically-minded businessmen for all public offices from governor down to constable, and to make it the duty of every business executive to give one-third of his time to government.

Just as surely as war means privation and defense means sacrifice, taxes are due to be heavier before they're lighter. And it is the better part of practicality to figure out now just where the axe must fall on non-defense luxuries.

America's dollar-a-year men—in case you've been worrying about them—have just had their payday. Only 13 got one whole dollar. The other 249 were paid on a strictly pro-rate basis, which meant some received only two cents. This is one field, happily, where the government counts its pennies.

Side Glances and Soliloquies

by Libby Trimble

Life everywhere is pretty much the same, whether it be atop a mountain, in a small town, the largest of cities, or under the stars on the desert. The immensity and troubles of the world come even closer home with the thought that every single house in the world is an entity unto itself, with its tragedies, joys,

etc., that every family group is apparently far removed from every other family group until they come in contact with each other and discover their similarities. Such is the way with the still large family groups, the countries of our world. We yelp and wail about the uncivilized manner in which these countries conduct themselves... but sometimes we must admit, they act

no worse than a group of relatives starting law-suits and family brawls over will and properties... they merely involve more people... more expense...

and millions of lives.

Out of the deep South come varying shades of accents among our fellow citizens. Neale and Russell, Woodson Jones and Mrs.

R. W. Solomon are only a few.

There is a musical quality in the speech of Southerners that is somewhat lacking in our harsh manner of speaking. Most of us sound as if we were grinding an ax with the thought that the other fellow might be deaf and therefore not aware of the fact.

A nature love with a thought for his stomach is the Cincinnati,

Ohio, lad who climbed two miles on the Mt. Wilson trail in the moonlight, looked around at the mountains and remarked with a sigh, "Oh Boy! What I wouldn't give for a bottle of beer."

It was suggested to us yesterday that we promote a contest

here to pick Sierra Madre's own

Yoo-Hoo Girl. All applicants for the position are invited to bring forth their applications as early as possible to John Q. Copeland,

Times Correspondent, to avoid the inevitable rush.

And now to our mind comes the story about the small boy in school who quite obviously had not taken a bath for several weeks or months... His teacher sent him home with a note to his mother containing the suggestion that she give him a bath before sending him back to school.

The boy returned the same day,

as dirty as ever, and bearing a note which read... "Dear Miss,

The trouble with you old-maid school teachers is that you don't know how a real man ought to smell."

Best crack of the week is Herb

Ingraham's... "If Hitler and

Mussolini saw me coming down the street in a uniform, they die

laughing."
